Purpose of the plan

This plan examines potential risks and issues that could cause disruption to the exams process at Engineering UTC Northern Lincolnshire. By outlining actions/procedures to be invoked in case of disruption it is intended to mitigate the impact these disruptions have on our exam process.

Alongside internal processes, this plan is informed by the Ofqual (and Northern Ireland Council for the Curriculum, Examinations and Assessment) Exam system contingency plan: England, Wales and Northern Ireland which provides guidance in the publication What schools and colleges and other centres should do if exams or other assessments are seriously disrupted and the JCQ Joint Contingency Plan for the Examination System in England, Wales and Northern Ireland and the JCQ document Preparing for disruption to examinations (Effective from 1 September 2023).

This plan also confirms Engineering UTC Northern Lincolnshire's compliance with JCQ's General Regulations for Approved Centres (section 5.3) that the centre has in place:

- a written examination contingency plan which covers all aspects of examination administration. This will allow members of the senior leadership team to act immediately in the event of an emergency or where the head of centre, examinations officer or SENCo is absent at a critical stage of the examination cycle. The examination contingency plan should reinforce procedures in the event of the centre being unavailable for examinations, or on results day, owing to an unforeseen emergency. The potential impact of a cyber-attack should also be considered.

National Centre Number Register and other information requirements

The head of centre will also ensure that the centre as a contingency to enable the prompt handling of urgent issues only, responds to the awarding bodies' request for information regarding the contact details of a senior member of staff (which might include a personal mobile number and/or email address). This will ensure that any urgent matters which might adversely affect candidates which arise outside of term time, and which potentially put qualification awards at risk, can be addressed by awarding bodies with the support of that member of staff. Heads of centre should ensure that this member of staff has the necessary authority to mobilise resources to provide this support, which might include resolving issues within the centre itself.

Centre actions to mitigate the impact of the disruption

The exam officer has completed an Engineering UTC Exams SOP (below) which will be updated at the beginning of every academic year. An additional workbook will include timelines and step by step guides for all the processes. If the exam officer was to be absent, the deputy head would be able to follow these instructions and also contact the exam boards for further guidance if needed.

- Pre-exams: the deputy head will identify key tasks with reference to the Engineering UTC Exams SOP (see below). The deputy head will have access to a shared drive and cabinet which includes all information collected from HODs.
- Entries: the information is collected and shared with SLT and HODs. The deputy head has accounts set up with all exam boards with same rights as exam officer. In the absence of the exam officer, the deputy head will have access to the exam boards as well as A2C.
- Pre exams: Deputy Head will ensure that timetables are distributed and will coordinate sending off any internally assessed work. Deputy Head will book rooms and invigilators following the guides from exam officer and SIMS handbook using exams organiser on SIMS. If extra invigilators are required, the deputy head will arrange recruitment and training with the help of the business manager. An invigilator training powerpoint is on a shared drive which the deputy head can access, hard copy versions are also available in the invigilator folder in the exam officers office. Receptionist is trained on the signing off exam papers and the deputy head are aware of the secure process and have access to the secure storage.
- During Exams: The deputy head will supervise the invigilators who have been trained with JCQ procedure and will carry out their normal duties as long as they are issued with exam papers, candidates and rooms. The member of SLT will print off the seating plans and ensure that the correct candidates are sent to each room.
- Post Exams: all Very Late Arrivals, suspected malpractice, special consideration and other queries will be collated by the deputy head and reported to the exams boards
- Results: deputy head has access to the exam board website and able to download results on pre-results day. Deputy head will be downloaded by the deputy head who will work with the Centre Principal to arrange distribution. Post results queries will be managed by the deputy head and the Principal.

- Where timetabled examinations are scheduled on a day when bad weather/other conditions are a factor, the OFQUAL Joint Contingency Examination Plan will come into operation.
Engineering UTC operates on the basis that it will open - unless overnight weather/other conditions are so extreme that there would be significant risk to students and staff travelling to school. If for any reason we are unable to open for examinations due to circumstance beyond our control, this will be communicated to all parties by a variety of mediums. The decision to open/not open school rests with the Head of Centre at all times after due consideration and advice taken.
Where conditions have a significant effect on the number of staff and students that can reach school, a decision not to open is made as early as possible on the relevant morning.
Local media outlets are contacted immediately, the website is updated and text messages sent where possible.

Ofqual

What schools and colleges and other centres should do if exams or other assessments are seriously disrupted

This document was updated in October 2023 to include Ofqual's final decisions on long-term resilience arrangements, and the Department for Education (DfE)'s guidance for education settings with confirmed reinforced autoclaved aerated concrete (RAAC),

In addition to this guidance, you will need to be aware of your specific responsibilities for local and national school preparations and contingencies. You should also follow advice from relevant public health bodies.

Contingency planning

Awarding organisations are required to establish, maintain and comply with an up-to-date detailed written contingency plan, to mitigate any incident they have identified may occur. This includes having communication plans for external parties (Ofqual General Condition of Recognition A6). Schools and colleges should also be prepared for possible disruption to exams and assessments and make sure staff are aware of these plans.

Disruption to assessments or exams

In the absence of any instruction from the relevant awarding organisation, you should make sure that any exam or timetabled assessment takes place if it is possible to hold it. This may mean relocating to alternative premises. You should discuss alternative arrangements with your awarding organisation if:

- the exam or assessment cannot take place
- a student misses an exam or loses their assessment due to an emergency, or other event, outside of the student's control

You may also wish to see the JCQ's notice to centres on exam contingency plans and JCQ's notice on preparing for disruption to examinations in England, Wales and Northern Ireland for qualifications within its scope.

Steps you should take

Exam planning

Review your contingency plans well in advance of each exam or assessment series. Consider how, if the contingency plan is invoked, you will comply with the awarding organisation's requirements.

Schools, colleges and other exam centres must speak to the relevant awarding organisations as soon as possible if they are expecting any disruption that might affect the sitting of exams and assessments.

In the event of disruption

1. Contact the relevant awarding organisation and follow its instructions.
2. Take advice, or follow instructions, from relevant local or national agencies in deciding whether your centre is able to open.
3. Identify whether the exam or timetabled assessment can be sat at an alternative venue, in agreement with the relevant awarding organisation, ensuring the secure transportation of questions papers or assessment materials to the alternative venue.
4. Where accommodation is limited, prioritise students whose progression will be severely delayed if they do not take their exam or timetabled assessment when planned.
5. In the event of an evacuation during an examination please refer to JCQ's Centre emergency evacuation procedure.
6. Communicate with students, parents and carers any changes to the exam or assessment timetable or to the venue.
7. Communicate with any external assessors or relevant third parties regarding any changes to the exam or assessment timetable. After the exam
 1. Consider whether any students' ability to take the assessment or demonstrate their level of attainment has been materially affected and, if so, apply to the relevant awarding organisation for special consideration.
 2. Advise students, where appropriate, of the opportunities to take their exam or assessment at a later date.
 3. Ensure that scripts are stored under secure conditions.
 4. Return scripts to awarding organisations in line with their instructions. Never make alternative arrangements for the transportation of completed exam scripts, unless told to do so by the awarding organisation.

Steps the awarding organisation should take

Exam planning

1. Establish and maintain, and at all times comply with, an up-to-date, written contingency plan.
2. Ensure that the arrangements in place with centres and other third parties enable them to deliver and award qualifications in accordance with their conditions of recognition.

In the event of disruption

1. Take all reasonable steps to mitigate any adverse effect, in relation to their qualifications, arising from any disruption.
2. Provide effective guidance to any of their centres delivering qualifications.
3. Ensure that where an assessment must be completed under specified conditions, students are able to complete the assessment under those conditions (other than where any reasonable adjustments or special considerations require alternative conditions).
4. Promptly notify the relevant regulators about any event which could have an adverse effect on students, standards or public confidence.

5. Coordinate its communications with the relevant regulators where the disruption has an impact on multiple centres or a wide range of learners.

After the exam

Consider any requests for special consideration for affected students; for example, those who may have lost their internally assessed work or whose performance in assessments or exams could have been affected by the disruption.

If any students miss an exam or are disadvantaged by the disruption

If some of the students have been adversely affected by the disruption, you should ask the awarding organisation about applying for special consideration.

Decisions about special consideration, when it is or is not appropriate, is for each awarding organisation to make. Their decisions might be different for different qualifications and for different subjects, depending on their specific policies.

See also JCQ's guidance on special consideration

Wider communications

The regulators, Ofqual in England, Qualifications Wales in Wales and CCEA Regulation in Northern Ireland, will share timely and accurate information, as required, with awarding organisations, government departments and other stakeholders.

The DfE in England, the DfE in Northern Ireland, and the Welsh Government will inform the relevant government ministers as soon as it becomes apparent that there will be significant local or national disruption, and ensure that they are kept updated until the matter is resolved.

Awarding organisations will alert the Universities and Colleges Admissions Service (UCAS) and the Central Applications Office (CAO) about any impact of the disruption on their deadlines and liaise regarding student progression to further and higher education.

Awarding organisations will alert relevant professional bodies or employer groups if the impact of disruption particularly affects them.

Widespread national disruption to the taking of examinations or assessments

As education is devolved, in the event of any widespread sustained national disruption to examinations or assessments, national government departments will communicate with regulators, awarding organisations and centres prior to a public announcement. Regulators will provide advice to government departments on implications for examinations and assessments, including exam timetables.

In September 2023, Ofqual and the DfE published joint consultation decisions on long-term resilience arrangements. As in 2023, Ofqual has provided guidance on collecting evidence of student performance to ensure resilience in the qualifications system for students entering GCSEs, AS and A levels, the Advanced Extension Award and Project qualifications. For VTQs and other qualifications used alongside or instead of GCSEs, AS and A levels, awarding organisations will provide guidance where needed and will contact schools and colleges with more information.

In December 2022, Qualifications Wales published guidance for contingency assessment arrangements for GCSEs, AS and A levels and Skills Challenge Certificates in the event that a national decision is made to cancel exams. This guidance is still relevant for the current academic year.

The DfE has updated its guidance on handling strike action in schools in England in light of the industrial action in 2023. The guidance recommends schools should prioritise the running of examinations and assessments on any strike days, and should review their contingency plans to make this happen. Schools, colleges and other exam centres must speak to the relevant awarding organisations if they are expecting any disruption that might affect the sitting of exams and assessments.

The DfE has also issued guidance for education settings with confirmed reinforced autoclaved aerated concrete \(RAAC\) in their buildings. It includes the need for contingencies for possible disruption to examinations and links to the existing emergency planning guidance.

We will update this page as necessary, with any further relevant links, should national disruption occur.

JCQ

15.1 The qualification regulators, awarding bodies and government departments responsible for education have prepared and agreed information for schools and colleges in the event of examinations being seriously disrupted. This jointly agreed information will ensure consistency of response in the event of major disruption to the examinations system affecting significant numbers of candidates.

Further information may be found at: <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/exam-system-contingency-plan><https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/exam-system-contingency-plan-england-wales-and-northern-ireland>

15.2 In addition, awarding bodies have their own well-established contingency plans in place to respond to disruptions. It is important that exams officers who are facing disruption liaise directly with the relevant awarding body/bodies.

15.3 All centres must have a written examination contingency plan which covers all aspects of examination administration. This will allow members of the senior leadership team to act immediately in the event of an emergency or where the head of centre, examinations officer or SENCo is absent at a critical stage of the examination cycle. The examination contingency plan should reinforce procedures in the event of the centre being unavailable for examinations owing to an unforeseen emergency.

All relevant centre staff must be familiar with the examination contingency plan. Consideration should be given as to how these arrangements will be communicated to candidates, parents and staff should disruption to examinations occur.

15.4 In the event that the head of centre decides the centre cannot be opened for scheduled examinations, the relevant awarding body must be informed as soon as possible. Awarding bodies will be able to offer advice regarding the alternative arrangements for conducting examinations that may be available and the options for candidates who have not been able to take scheduled examinations.

15.5 The awarding bodies will designate 'contingency days sessions' for examinations, summer 2024. This is consistent with the qualification regulators' document Exam system contingency plan: England, Wales and Northern Ireland: <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/exam-system-contingency-plan-england-wales-and-northern-ireland>

The designation of 'contingency sessions' within the common examination timetable is in the event of national or significant local disruption to examinations. It is part of the awarding bodies' standard contingency planning for examinations.

In the event of national disruption to a day of examinations in summer 2024, the awarding bodies will liaise with the qualification regulators and government departments to agree the most appropriate option for managing the impact. As a last resort the affected examinations will be rescheduled. Although every effort would be taken to keep the impact to a minimum, it is possible that there could be more than one timetable date affected following the disruption, up to and including the last contingency day. Centres will be alerted if it is agreed to reschedule the examinations and the affected candidates will be expected to make themselves available in such circumstances. The decision regarding the rescheduling of examinations will always rest with the awarding body. The centre must conduct the examination on the scheduled date unless instructed to do otherwise by the awarding body.

Where candidates choose not to be available for the rescheduled examination(s) for reasons other than those traditionally covered by special consideration, they will not be eligible for enhanced grading arrangements. Centres must therefore ensure candidates and parents are aware of the contingency arrangements so that they may take them into account when making their plans for the summer.

National Cyber Security Centre

The NCSC's free Web Check and Mail Check services can help protect schools from cyber-attacks. Two NCSC cyber security services, which are already helping thousands of organisations to protect their websites and email servers from cyber-attacks, are now available to all UK schools. Both tools are available free of charge, are quick to set up, and thereafter run automatically. More information is available from the NCSC website.

The Department for Education has been asking centres to review National Cyber Security Centre advice following increasing number of cyber-attacks involving ransomware infections. The NCSC information supports centres in cyber security preparedness and mitigation work.

Ransomware attacks continue and the Department is reminding centres to review the NCSC advice and to take precautions. This includes ensuring that you have backups in place for your key services and data.

Exam day procedure (if Exam Officer does not arrive on exam day)

1. Exam day preparation

Member of SLT to ensure weekly exam pack is available in all exam rooms. Weekly exam pack will contain timetable, access arrangement list, invigilator timetable and seating plan.

Rooms and Invigilators (a ratio of at least 1:30 and 1:15 for onscreen exams, plus one for dealing with student issues, such as illness or comfort breaks) will be filled in on form on front of files, as well as which readers, if applicable. In a big exam, there may be some students that are being held under supervision until a room is free to house them. A copy of these 'exam packs' are required in each exam room.

The seating plan must be followed by placing a candidate identification card on the relevant desk. The cards will include centre number and candidate number information. Access arrangement cards will include seat and room number which will minimise disruption to those with access arrangements or special considerations.

The 'exam packs' are important as it is JCQ regulations that a yellow instruction book (ICE 2017-2018) is taken to the main exam room. The 'exam packs' contain these along with other essentials, such as a white board to write the times date, etc. of the exam (this is another JCQ reg.). They should also be stocked with spare equipment and a laminated card that should be read to the student/s at the beginning of the exam.

You cannot open the packets of exam question papers until 8am or 12:30pm; this must be done under supervision of another member of staff. Once open they must be guarded stringently. On the front of the exam paper it will say what special equipment is required. Put all equipment on the desks ready.

Every exam room must display the following posters as a minimum and also at least one clock.

	OUTSIDE EXAM ROOM
MUST	Warning to candidates
	No Mobile phones
ADVISED	Seating plan on hall door
	Silence Exams in Progress

If rooms other than the hall are being used, it is essential to make sure that the seats are set out as per the seating plan (alter either to get them to match – seats must be 1.25 meters from the centre of one to the next) and any relevant teaching aids are covered or removed.

Keys are kept by the Exams Officer and spare keys with the Head of Centre. Question papers are kept in the filing cabinets, with answer papers for each board laid out on the counter. In general, the cabinet is filled first from the top in date order. There is a timetable on inside of door where exams are highlighted as papers arrive.

As the papers cannot be left unattended it is best to have more than one person go to fetch them. Before you leave the strong room, check the packets as to whether answer papers are included - if not, choose the correct ones from the counter as per exam board.

Put out the exam papers according to the seating plan, making sure that the foundation and higher levels are noted. Mark up the large white board with the date, centre number, and all the paper numbers and start and finish times. Some students are entitled to extra time; this should be marked on the seating plan. Send invigilators in small rooms off with their 'exam packs', extra equipment and papers.

Things needed on exam day

- POSTERS - 2 x warning + No Phones + silence + centre no.
- BOARD showing times
- CLOCKS with batteries
- SEATING PLAN marked with extra time and highlighted tiers
- INVIGILATORS booked and written on seating plan
- STUDENT I.D. LABELS on desk per seating plan □ BOX with pens, pencils, yellow Instruction Booklet.
- SENIOR LEADER booked to call in students as per seating plan
- REGISTER kept in exam packs, which also has other notes and parcel labels
- QUESTION PAPERS - keep safe and don't open too early
- ANSWER PAPERS - if separate ones required
- EQUIPMENT as listed on front of exam paper
- LATE CANDIDATE INSTRUCTIONS on orange slip

Getting Started

A member of SLT or the subject leader (no member of teaching staff for the exam should enter the hall) of the exam should line up candidates outside the hall. They will need a copy of seating plan and will call out their names, one line at a time. Invigilators wait in hall.

There should be silence in the room at all times. As soon as the last candidate is in, start to read the laminated instructions to candidates, or the suggested reading from the official yellow instructions book, or play the recording on the laptop. Invigilators will collect phones. Remember to get candidates to write names on front of answer sheets and read instructions on the front of the paper.

Note the exact start time of the exam. If any students are missing, advise the Learning Manager, who might be able to ring to discover their whereabouts. Also, mark the seating plan 'absent'. Write anything else that needs to be noted on the seating plan.

If any student needs to leave the room, you must make sure that they are accompanied and that you are not left short of invigilators (1:30)

If any student arrives late, mark the seating plan, check they have no phone, explain that their paper might or might not be accepted - give them full time, if feasible.

Finishing

At end of exam, announce 'stop writing and remain seated'. You can give 5 minutes warning, if all finish at same time, but don't have to. Collect answer papers. Candidates can collect phones from Student Reception. Send off candidates as quietly as possible, one column at a time.

(Teaching staff/head of department or faculty may collect papers 24 hours after the examination has finished.)

Complete the attendance registers and pack, with the answer scripts, into correct bags (kept in the Exams Office). Use labels from exam packs.

Ask invigilators to make a note of hours.

Give parcel to Principal's PA and complete the log. Parcel Force should have been booked to come and collect (Parcel Force 0870 240 0913).

What schools and colleges and other centres should do if exams or other assessments are seriously disrupted

1. Contingency planning

You should prepare for possible disruption to exams and other assessments as part of your emergency planning and make sure your staff are aware of these plans.

When drafting contingency plans, you should consider the following guidance...

2. Disruption to assessments or exams

In the absence of any instruction from the relevant awarding organisation, you should make sure that any exam or timetabled assessment takes place if it is possible to hold it. This may mean relocating to alternative premises.

You should discuss alternative arrangements with your awarding organisation if:

- the exam or assessment cannot take place
- a student misses an exam or loses their assessment due to an emergency, or other event, outside of the student's control

3. Steps you should take

3.1 Exam planning

Review contingency plans well in advance of each exam or assessment series. Consider how, if the contingency plan is invoked, you will comply with the awarding organisation's requirements.

3.2 In the event of disruption

1. Contact the relevant awarding organisation and follow its instructions.
2. Take advice, or follow instructions, from relevant local or national agencies in deciding whether your centre is able to open.
3. Identify whether the exam or timetabled assessment can be sat at an alternative venue, in agreement with the relevant awarding organisation, ensuring the secure transportation of questions papers or assessment materials to the alternative venue.
4. Where accommodation is limited, prioritise students whose progression will be severely delayed if they do not take their exam or timetabled assessment when planned.
5. In the event of an evacuation during an examination please refer to JCQ's 'Centre emergency evacuation procedure'.
6. Communicate with parents, carers and students any changes to the exam or assessment timetable or to the venue.
7. Communicate with any external assessors or relevant third parties regarding any changes to the exam or assessment timetable.

3.3 After the exam

1. Consider whether any students' ability to take the assessment or demonstrate their level of attainment has been materially affected and, if so, apply for special consideration.
2. Advise students, where appropriate, of the opportunities to take their exam or assessment at a later date.
3. Ensure that scripts are stored under secure conditions.
4. Return scripts to awarding organisations in line with their instructions. Never make alternative arrangements for the transportation of completed exam scripts, unless told to do so by the awarding organisation.

4. Steps the awarding organisation should take

4.1 Exam planning

Establish and maintain, and at all times comply with, an up-to-date, written contingency plan.

Ensure that the arrangements in place with centres and other third parties enable them to deliver and award qualifications in accordance with their conditions of recognition.

4.2 In the event of disruption

1. Take all reasonable steps to mitigate any adverse effect, in relation to their qualifications, arising from any disruption.
2. Provide effective guidance to any of their centres delivering qualifications.
3. Ensure that where an assessment must be completed under specified conditions, students complete the assessment under those conditions (other than where any reasonable adjustments or special considerations require alternative conditions).
4. Promptly notify the relevant regulators about any event which could have an adverse effect on students, standards or public confidence.
5. Coordinate its communications with the relevant regulators where the disruption has an impact on multiple centres or a wide range of learners.

4.3 After the exam

Consider any requests for special consideration for affected students. For example, those who may have lost their internally assessed work or whose performance in assessments or exams could have been affected by the disruption.

5. If any students miss an exam or are disadvantaged by the disruption

If some of the students have been adversely affected by the disruption, you should ask the awarding organisation about applying for special consideration.

Decisions about special consideration, when it is or is not appropriate, is for each awarding organisation to make. Their decisions might be different for different qualifications and for different subjects.
